AGPN Board endorses Leanne Wells as AGPN CEO

The Australian General Practice Board [AGPN] has unanimously decided to appointment Leanne Wells as AGPN CEO.

Ms Wells has been acting CEO since the departure of former CEO David Butt in July.

AGPN Chair, Dr Emil Djakic said the Board has been impressed with the steady leadership that Ms Wells has maintained at AGPN.

"AGPN has not missed a beat in its program to implement Medicare Locals and the Board felt greater clarity around its own leadership was needed and strongly endorsed Ms Wells for this role," Dr Djakic said.

"During this period of transition for the network to Medicare Locals and for AGPN in its endeavor to become the national organisation for Medicare Locals, Ms Wells' corporate knowledge is highly valued by the Board and it looks forward to continuing its work with her at the executive level.

"Ms Wells' appointment is immediate until the term of AGPN's contract," Dr Djakic said.
